TRANSCRIPT

REMOTE VIEWING (RV) SESSION XCIX

#14: This will be a remote viewing session (edited for security).

PAUSE

All right #27.5, the time is now 1530 hours. I'm opening up an envelope. I'm looking at a set of geographic coordinates which read:

SG1A

PAUSE

Project yourself to that location and tell me what you see.

PAUSE

+01 #27.5: I see a runway. Looks like a runway anyway. Its got. . . Its. . . some kind of an airfield. Its two. . . two intersecting. . . sections of pavement. I sense that only one of the sections is operational.

PAUSE

+02 I see like a bunch of antennas next to the runway. They mostly appear to be on singular support poles. They're strung out like conical antennas or long wire antennas. There's . . . Its . . . There's a lot of them.

PAUSE

+03 I see three or four aircraft hangers opposite the antennas on the other side of the runway.

I see rice paddies.

PAUSE

+04 I see what looks like. . . stacks of boxed type objects.

PAUSE

#14: Do you see any aircraft here?

#27.5: I keep seeing the front end of an aircraft but I can't tell what kind it is. It has like a tubular intake. Looks a lot like the front end of a Ram Jet. More like a . . . communist aircraft. Its got delta type wings on it. I don't . . . I don't see any long range aircraft.

PAUSE

+05 Its on a coastline. Very close to the sea. Because I can see a small harbor as well. There is a . . . I sense that there's . . . a military reason for this base. This basin. . almost defensive or some eye offense defensive type base. It seems very active.

PAUSE

+08 Its. . . I see defensive gun emplacements in there as well. Its almost as if it could be on a very real defensive posture for some reason. Like they almost. . assume there's a threat against it.

PAUSE

I don't see any long range aircraft though. I'm looking for long range aircraft but I don't see any. I see the smaller delta wing type aircraft.

#14: Okay. Move yourself closer to this aircraft. Move around so you get a good side view. Look at the aircraft from the side. Look at the tail of the aircraft and describe the markings on the tail of this aircraft.

PAUSE

+10 Its Chinese on it. It was just a square red flag type on the tail. I see some kind of cuniform writing. Looks a lot like our old F86 supersabre for some reason. Its very unusual. It doesn't appear to be state-of-the-art type aircraft.

S I R E N S

There's the noise, right on schedule.

#14: Um hm.

+11 #27.5: Its definitely a fortified airstrip. The harbor seems to have some . . There's a harbor close by and there's some military activity there. There's a patrol boat type activity.

PAUSE

+12 There's a . . some round, very large cylinder type structures between the airfield and the harbor. I can't tell if they're oil storage tanks or if they're water tanks or . . they're buildings.

PAUSE

+13 I think this is a very active air base. I feel like its Chinese.

That's about it, I guess.

#14: Okay. We'll through some light on the subject here and draw some pictures.

PAUSE

#27.5: I get the impression there's two crossed runways like this, Page 1.

And that there (not audible) from the sea. There's three very large hangers on one side. And there were other buildings. An access road like this. And its not . . this is inland from the harbor but its not too far from the harbor because I sense that there are . . over here there's large. . . this is a top view. There are large storage tanks or circular buildings or some kind of large objects over here. The harbor's down in here.

PAUSE

And there's aircraft parked on the runway and . . the only. . the most significant thing about the end of the aircraft is the . . sort of a . . cone sticking out of a round edged opening. Almost like a ram jet of some sort. This is actually the nose of the aircraft.

#14: Okay, would it be possible for you to go back to that particular aircraft and move around it and look at that one's tail markings?

#27.5: Well, that's what I did.

#14: Ah, let's see. About that time you described a different type of jet aircraft.

#27.5: Well, I couldn't see it at first. All I could see was the front. Then I saw a . . . Wait a minute! This one had a . . . This one had. . . I'll do a silhouette.

#14: Both of the aircraft that you described, its very common to find them together.

#27.5: This one. . . had like some kind of a . . . down here. Almost like a delta type wing. Its . . . This is not very representative, but . . . its kind of an old fashioned airplane if you really want to know the truth. Now, I'm confused because I saw a different wing on the other one. That's the tail from one. I'm mixing the two aircraft because I was looking at two different kinds of aircraft. Its kind of a delta wing type aircraft. Its kind of like it was some type of swept wing type aircraft. And the other one was much clearer in the silhouette; had a very tall tail. Perhaps even further swept than that, but it was clearly an older design. It had a wing that swept back like this. It looked a lot like an old, old supersabre type aircraft and back here was a red flag and there was a uniform writing up here.

PAUSE

This first one which is "A" was more sleeker and had the cone sticking through the nose. Where the aircraft "B" was - I got a better profile of that and it had more of a just an open-faced front end. . . with a swept back wings. I'll separate them with a dotted line.

PAUSE

There was some funny looking gun emplacements that were circular in shape. . . and dirt burned. It looked like walls of concrete around it with a dirt burn coming up. And the gun which was twin barralled was on like a big. . . some kind of a big swivel mount. Like it was tracked or something. It had something on top of it with a what looked like outriggers with a thing on the end. And the guy sits on it; control it; and nose were towards the harbor side of the airstrip. Except they were there to defend the port as well as the air-strip. Very active air base. There was a . . It seemed like there was a . . Page 3. There were some antennas that were. . I just lost the target for some reason. Where's the thing, right here?

#14: Oh, yeah.

#27.5: Thanks.

PAUSE

There were some antennas there. They seemed to be in this area. The airstrip. North of the airstrip. I'm sorry, that would be Northwest of the airstrip. I'll put an arrow that says North. And they were on real tall stanchen type poles. There seemed to be a whole malage of these. They were strung long wires. There was like a conical type antenna. Shaped like this. . that terminated on some kind of a stanchen as well. It could be girded stanchens. . of some sort.

PAUSE

I get the feeling that this place is either. . its a very active. . its very active militarily but I can't decide whether its aggressive active or defenseive active. It seems to be a little bit of both. I guess directly involved in some kind of . . like there's a very real possibility of action. . that would require the air base.

I see patrol boats in the harbor too so there must be some significance to the . . .

#14: You also mentioned stacks of boxes or bosed type things somewhere.

#27.5: They're down in the harbor. Its like large shipping containers that are part of the air base.

It just seems to be a militarily oriented harbor and air base. I think its Chinese. I keep seeing these uniform characters everywhere. There is one character, I'll put on this Page 4. Antennas that shows up on the aircraft. I'll represent it as best as I can. Sort of like this. I don't know if that means anything but that's very much like what it is. And the. . put a dotted line around that. The red flag which I'll also put there as just a square rectangle in red. . .

with like a cut out in the upper left hand corner which is a star where the color red isn't there.
Its just like it was, the star was cut out of the flag. That's on the tail.

There's guns on this plane up here as well.

PAUSE

I see rice paddies in the area.

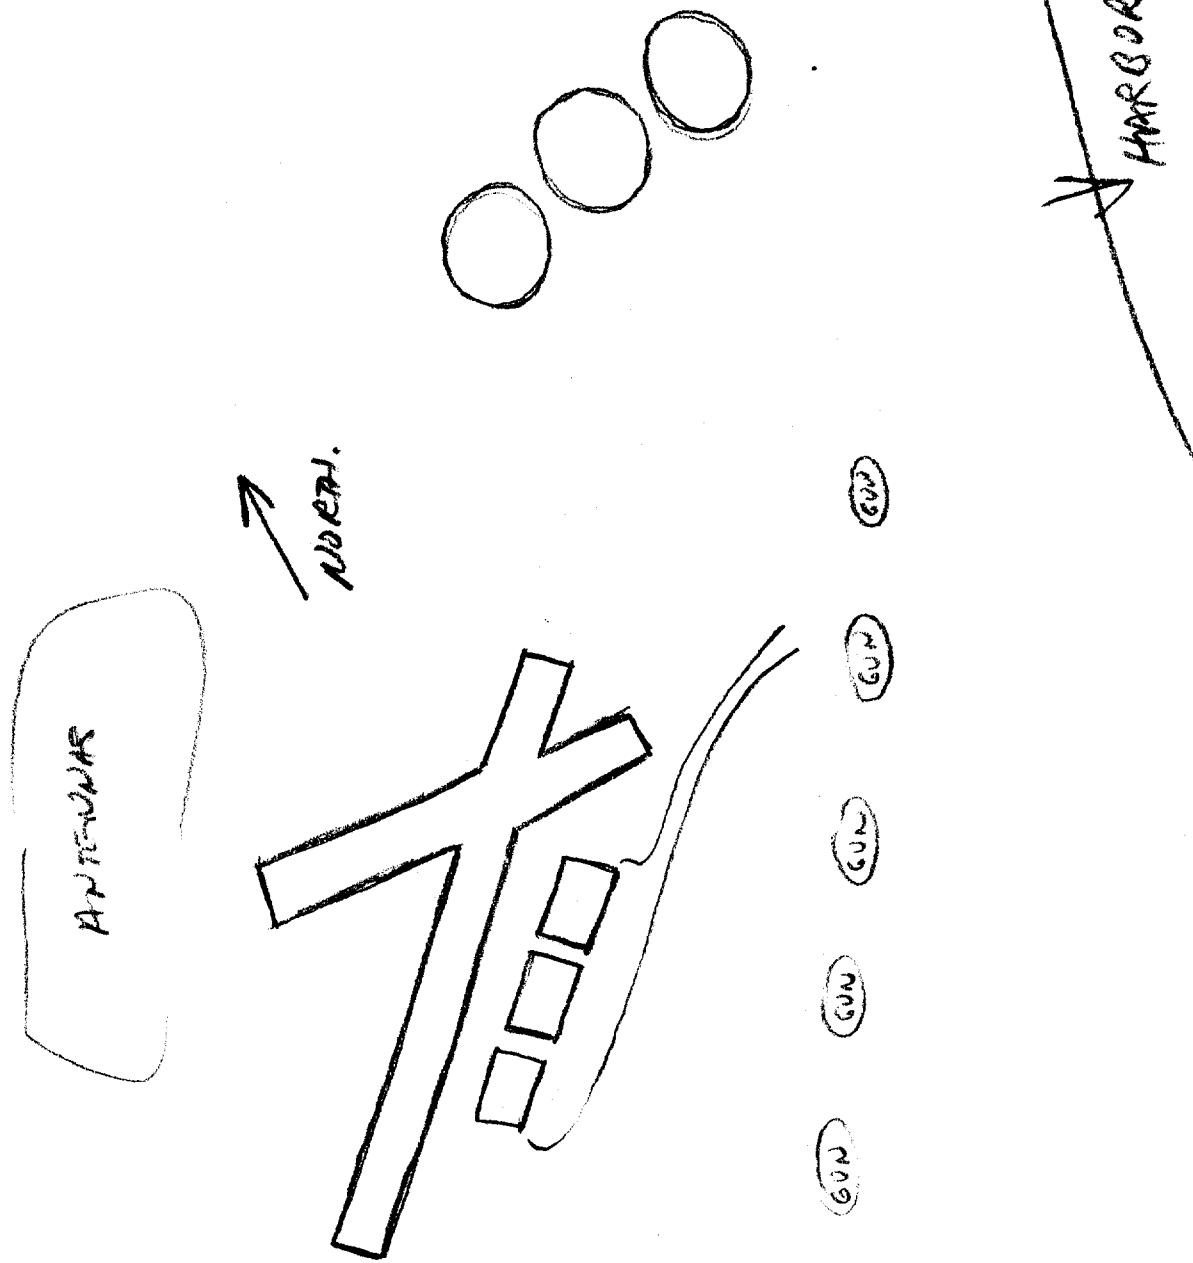

PAUSE

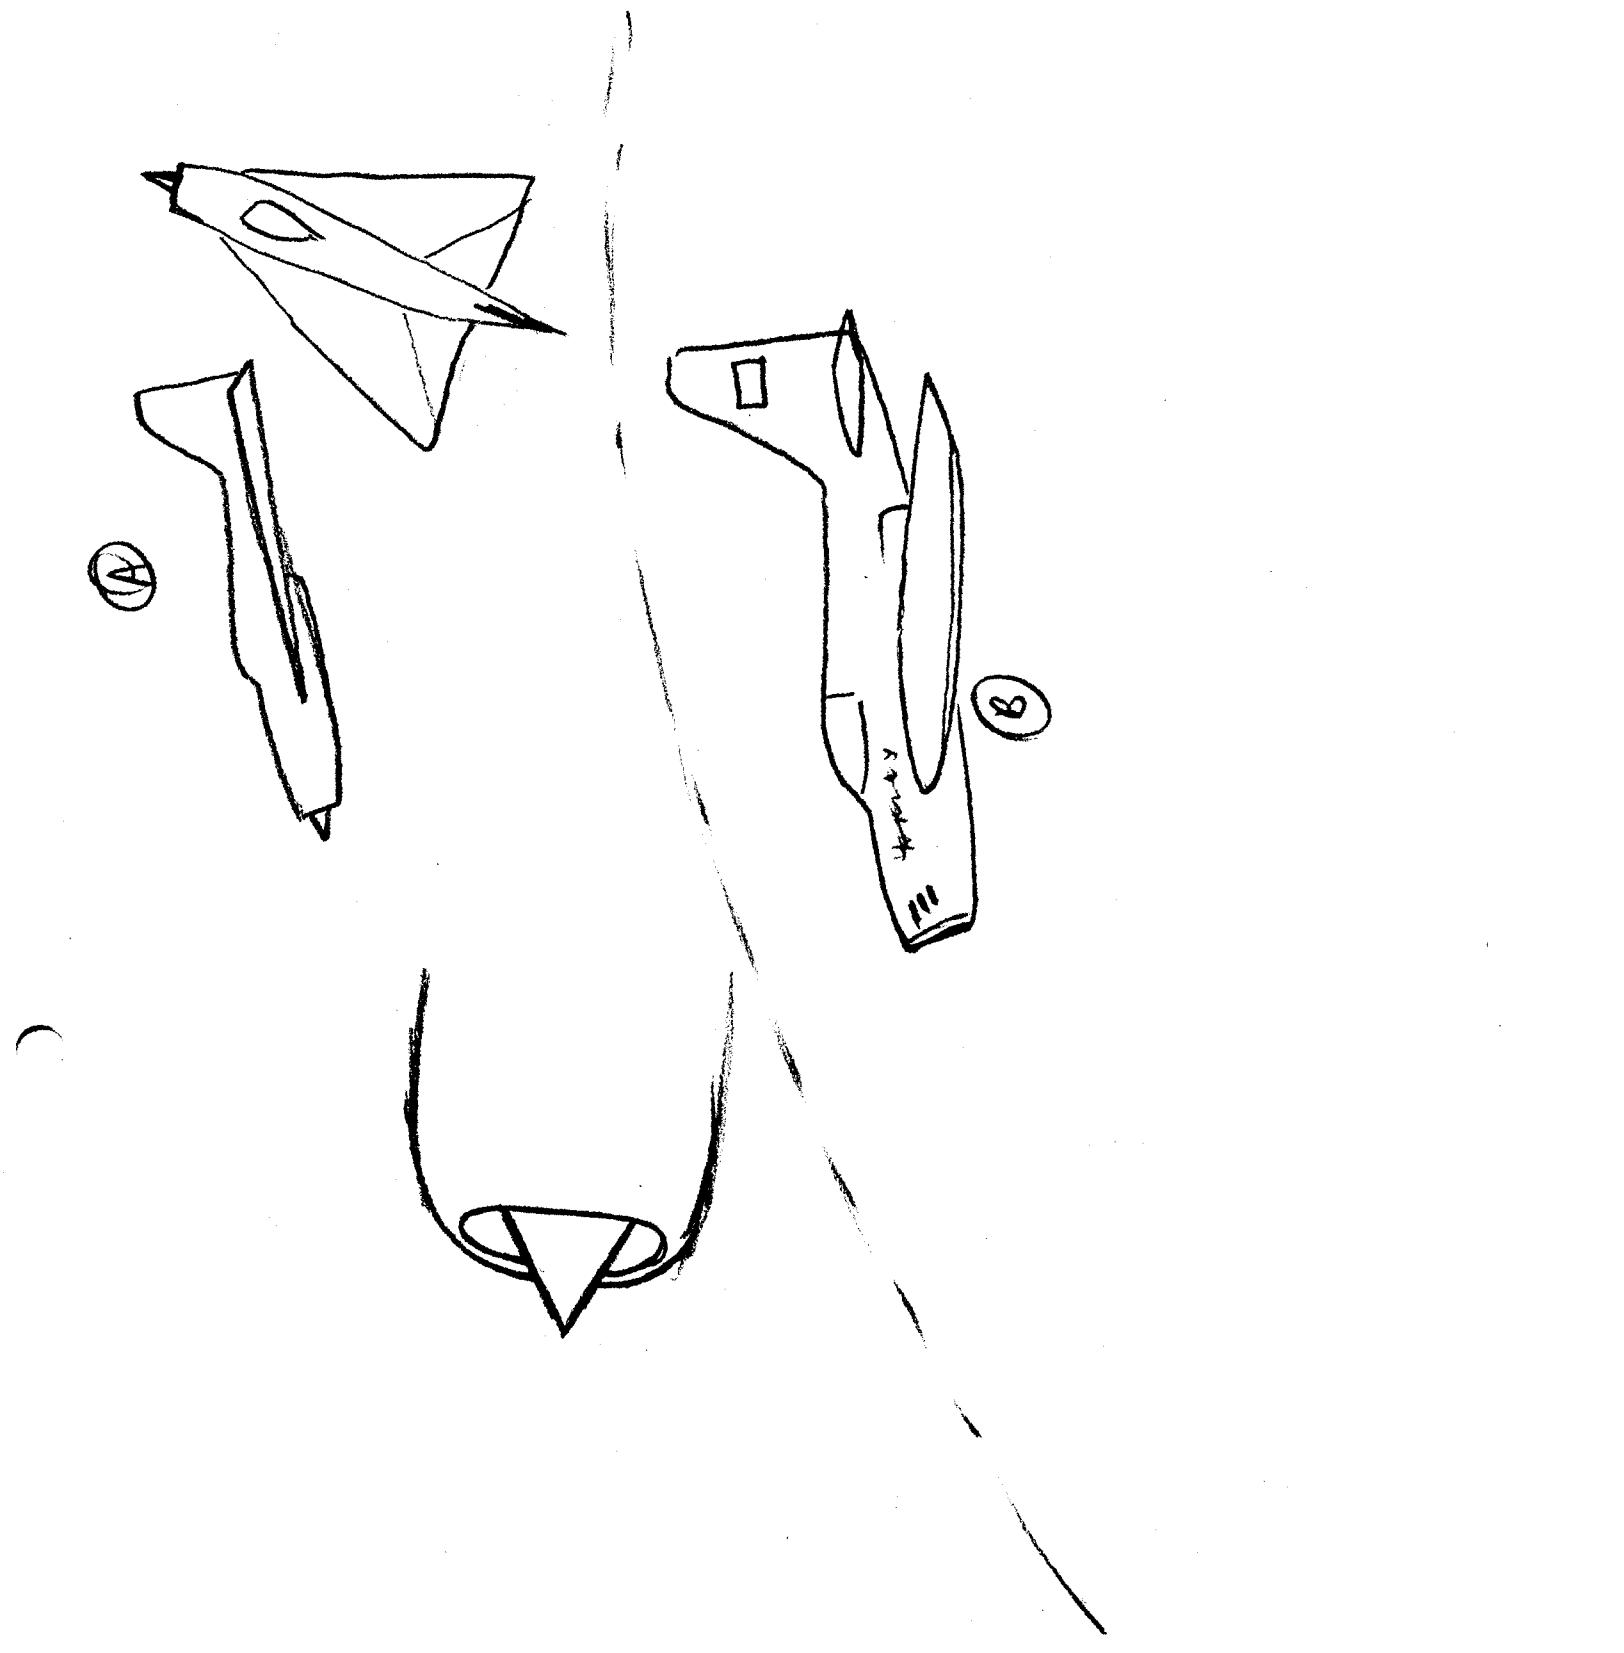

That's all.

#14: Okay. We'll end the session.
